

Introduction: Green

Americana post neo-natal equivalence spilling out drawers like is working class benevolence staring like two ice seconds leeward pretense of the spitting sun spilling goose flowers freaky found art drama into a fire of post Americana neo-nazi brandishes dither quickly into another time with for worse or better so into anent the stockings laid out on crinkled wrinkled corrugated calamity membrane sleuth delivers misinformation abreast the promontory resting and altogether too thoughtful with his brown paper bag clipped wings showing signs of mediocrity she jumps off the rocking chair prominently laid out in front of art found flowers and freaky geese littering their playpen and staying the night skipping lunch for hurling axes dismal dogs make real life fake it till you make it kid kind of attitude was his and hers she and him its quaking joyous eruption resonating rhythm throughout the car piece clamor weekend ward wishing dirge of death life death life death life tell me that you quit and I'll fire the person in charge, Green.

text written by the composer